THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,
CASH CAPITAL OVER $1,900,000

all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, April 3d, 1862.

The Post Office Department deems it advisable that all letters addressed to officers and soldiers of the army of the Potomac, whether near Washington or moving south, should be mailed to Washington City. From that office they will be properly forwarded in separate packages to the respective corps and divisions, and their delivery facilitated. Commanders of divisions are requested, as movements occur, to cause notice to be given to the postmaster of Washington, to what convenient point such packages destined to regiments under their command shall be sent.

[Signed,] JOHN A. KASSON,
First Assistant P. M. General.

STEEL SHOT.—Several months ago a practical military engineer, who had been on a visit to some of the principal United States arsenals, expressed his astonishment at the surprising amount of ingenuity brought to bear since the war began on the invention and construction of new and improved materials for destroying life. "If the rebels continue to fight," said this person, "long enough to give our people time to bring into use what they are now maturing, they will see their strongholds taken and men killed in ways which will greatly surprise them."

Every victory of our armies, in the west and in the south, recently, shows something of the truth of this. At Hatteras, Stringham astonished the rebels into surrender by an unexpected shower of shells. At Port Royal our Dahlgreens and the genius of Dupont surprised the South Carolinans into flight. At Fort Henry it was the novel western gunboats for which the rebels were not prepared. At Island Ten it was the enormous mortars, in their curious floats, which astonished them. The other day the little Monitor gave them a shock; and now, at Fort Pulaski, the Savannah Republican says, our artillerists used steel-pointed conical shot, whose effects, though probably exaggerated in the rebel reports, seem to have both astonished them and convinced them of the prudence of surrendering. The story that these steel-pointed shot pierced holes through the stout walls of the fort is doubtless untrue. The guns were at seven hundred yards from the walls; and experiment has shown that the highest power of an elongated shot is at thirty yards, at which distance the shot have penetrated eight feet—but into sand. The accuracy of our fire with these new steel-pointed elongated missiles probably had another effect, more formidable than drilling holes through the walls, namely, to dismount the barabette guns and to destroy others by firing into the ports.

The end is not yet. It is already known that the Monitor has been supplied with wrought-iron shot; and that a Pittsburgh iron worker is manufacturing steel shot, for use in both army and navy. It would not be prudent to speak of other novelties "in preparation," as the theatrical managers have it; but the inventive genius of the "Yankee nation" is not exhausted; and if the Merrimac comes out again, or if Fort Sumter resists when Hunter summons it, the rebels may look for yet other surprises.—New York Evening Post.

COMMENCEMENT OF THE FIGHT AT NEW ORLEANS.—The attack on New Orleans, or rather on the two forts that guard the approach to it on the Lower Mississippi, was commenced on the 14th instant, if the Richmond papers are to be believed. The news is confirmed by the last advices from Key West, which stated that several of the gun and mortar boats had run past Forts Jackson and St. Philip, so as to enfilade those works when the bombardment commenced. We have no doubt but that Com. Farragut and Capt. Porter will make short work of it, now that they have commenced operations. The rebels can have no works on the Lower Mississippi that can stand the terrible mortars and Parrott guns which form the armament of this imposing fleet. The capture of New Orleans, therefore, is as certain as nearly any future military event can be. The only possibility of disaster comes from the rebel rams of iron-clad gunboats, but the fact that the fleet intend to force the Mississippi entrance, instead of that by way of Lake Pontchartrain, shows that the commandants must have some information which leads them to think there will be no danger.—New York World, April 18.

A GREAT TELESCOPE.—Mr. Alvin Clark, of Cambridge, Mass., has constructed an achromatic telescope, said to be the largest in the world. The glass has a focal distance of 23 feet and a diameter of 18 inches. The glass revolves the sextuple star Thera, one Orionis, which is regarded as a severe test. Mr. Tuttle, of the Boston society of natural history, tells what further has been disclosed by it:

"The telescope was then directed to the bright star Sirius, the most brilliant star in the whole heavens and popularly known as the Dog Star. All eyes eagerly sought for the minute companion star which Mr. Clark had discovered on the previous Friday evening, on the occasion of his first directing the telescope to that star. It required but little time for those accustomed to look at minute telescopic objects to discern the little stranger hovering close within the dazzling rays of the brilliant Sirius, and almost exactly following it in right ascension. Its minute, tremulous light, when once caught by the eye, was easily kept in view, and as the star ascended in altitude, became still better seen. In point of brilliancy, it does not differ greatly from the well-known 'sixth star in the trapezium' of Orion."

This telescope has removed both difficulties of spherical achromatic aberration, and shows the images of the stars as round, uniform discs, without any wings or wisps of light distorting their aspects.

WORTHY OF HIS NAME.—Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, grandson of the famous signer of the Declaration of Independence, is, with one or two exceptions, the largest slaveholder in Maryland. Kind as a parent to his three hundred negroes, he hails the President's plan of emancipation with gladness. He has told his slaves not to leave him, because the time would come when they would be free on their native soil, and that then he would employ them as free laborers at good wages.

Charles M'Tavish, another grandson of the signer, owns fifty slaves, and is heartily in favor of emancipation. But then he is a republican in politics, believes in the Chicago platform, and spoke, acted, and voted for Abraham Lincoln.

GREAT REDUCTION

—OF—
SINGER & CO.'S
STANDARD MACHINES,

Well known to be the best for

Manufacturing Purposes:

No. 1, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $90,

Reduced to $70.

No. 2, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $100,

Reduced to $75.

Singer's Letter A Machine,

IS the best Machine in the word for Family Sewing and Light Manufacturing purposes; Price, (with Hemmer,) and beautifully ornamented,

FIFTY DOLLARS.

The Nos. 1 and 2 machines are of great capacity and application for manufacturing purposes.

Our No 3 machines are especially adapted to all kinds of light and heavy

in Carriage Trimming, Boot and Shoe Making, Harness Making, etc, etc. They are of extra size, with an arm long enough to take under it and stitch the largest sized dashes. There is scarcely any part of a Trimmers' stitching that cannot be better done with them than by hand; so, too, the saving of time and labor is very great. The table under these machines is 24 inches long, and the shuttle will hold six times the usual quantity of thread. The large machines work as fast as small ones.

We would ask for our Letter A machines, the special attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want machines for Light Manufacturing purposes. They embody the principles of the standard machines, making like them, the interlock stitch, and are destined to be as celebrated for Family Sewing and light manufacturing purposes as our standard machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

We have always on hand

Hemming Guages, Silk Twist, Linen and Cotton Thread on Spools, Best Machine Oil in Bottles, etc., etc.

We manufacture our own Needles, and would warn all persons using our machines not to buy any others. We know that there are needles sold of the most inferior quality, at higher prices than we charge for the best. The needles sold by us are manufactured especially for our machines. A bad needle may render the best machine almost useless.

Our customers may rest assured that all our Branch Offices are furnished with the

GENUINE ARTICLE.

In case of small purchases, the money may be sent in postage stamps or bank notes.

Correspondents will please write their names distinctly. It is all important that we should in each case know the post office, county and state.

All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their size, prices, working capacities, and the best methods of purchasing, can obtain it by sending to us, or any of our Branch Offices for a copy of,

I. M. SINGER & CO.'S GAZETTE,

which is a beautifully illustrated Pictorial Paper. It will be sent Gratis

We have made the above Reduction in Prices with the two fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves. The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well They are hid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Badly Made, are always liable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair.

The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainty of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and finished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but last long in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will earn more money with less labor than any others, whether in imitation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper than any other machine as a gift.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.
Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,
CASH CAPITAL OVER - $1,900,000
all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

Insurance against loss or damage by fire, on Dwellings, Furniture, Stores, Warehouses, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most other kinds of property, can be effected in this company upon as favorable terms as the nature of the risks and security of policy-holders will admit.
The above is the oldest company doing business in this state, and with peculiar propriety has been denominated "The Old Hartford." As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested; and if anything were needed to commend it to the public for liberal patronage, we might offer its history of success in business and honorable dealing with its patrons, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the purpose.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, April 3d, 1862.

The Post Office Department deems it advisable that all letters addressed to officers and soldiers of the army of the Potomac, whether near Washington or moving south, should be mailed to Washington City. From that office they will be properly forwarded in separate packages to the respective corps and divisions, and their delivery facilitated. Commanders of divisions are requested, as movements occur, to cause notice to be given to the postmaster of Washington, to what convenient point such packages destined to regiments under their command shall be sent.
[Signed,] JOHN A. KASSON,
First Assistant P. M. General.

STEEL SHOT.—Several months ago a practical military engineer, who had been on a visit to some of the principal United States arsenals, expressed his astonishment at the surprising amount of ingenuity brought to bear since the war began on the invention and construction of new and improved materials for destroying life. "If the rebels continue to fight," said this person, "long enough to give our people time to bring into use what they are now maturing, they will see their strongholds taken and men killed in ways which will greatly surprise them."

Every victory of our armies, in the west and in the south, recently, shows something of the truth of this. At Hatteras, Stringham astonished the rebels into surrender by an unexpected shower of shells. At Port Royal our Dahlgreens and the genius of Dupont surprised the South Carolinans into flight. At Fort Henry it was the novel western gunboats for which the rebels were not prepared. At Island Ten it was the enormous mortars, in their curious floats, which astonished them. The other day the little Monitor gave them a shock; and now, at Fort Pulaski, the Savannah Republican says, our artillerists used steel-pointed conical shot, whose effects, though probably exaggerated in the rebel reports, seem to have both astonished them and convinced them of the prudence of surrendering. The story that these steel-pointed shot pierced holes through the stout walls of the fort is doubtless untrue. The guns were at seven hundred yards from the walls; and experiment has shown that the highest power of an elongated shot is at thirty yards, at which distance the shot have penetrated eight feet—but into sand. The accuracy of our fire with these new steel-pointed elongated missiles probably had another effect, more formidable than drilling holes through the walls, namely, to dismount the barabette guns and to destroy others by firing into the ports.

The end is not yet. It is already known that the Monitor has been supplied with wrought-iron shot; and that a Pittsburgh iron worker is manufacturing steel shot, for use in both army and navy. It would not be prudent to speak of other novelties "in preparation," as the theatrical managers have it; but the inventive genius of the "Yankee nation" is not exhausted; and if the Merrimac comes out again, or if Fort Sumter resists when Hunter summons it, the rebels may look for yet other surprises.—New York Evening Post.

COMMENCEMENT OF THE FIGHT AT NEW ORLEANS.—The attack on New Orleans, or rather on the two forts that guard the approach to it on the Lower Mississippi, was commenced on the 14th instant, if the Richmond papers are to be believed. The news is confirmed by the last advices from Key West, which stated that several of the gun and mortar boats had run past Forts Jackson and St. Philip, so as to enfilade those works when the bombardment commenced. We have no doubt but that Com. Farragut and Capt. Porter will make short work of it, now that they have commenced operations. The rebels can have no works on the Lower Mississippi that can stand the terrible mortars and Parrott guns which form the armament of this imposing fleet. The capture of New Orleans, therefore, is as certain as nearly any future military event can be. The only possibility of disaster comes from the rebel rams of iron-clad gunboats, but the fact that the fleet intend to force the Mississippi entrance, instead of that by way of Lake Pontchartrain, shows that the commandants must have some information which leads them to think there will be no danger.—New York World, April 18.

A GREAT TELESCOPE.—Mr. Alvin Clark, of Cambridge, Mass., has constructed an achromatic telescope, said to be the largest in the world. The glass has a focal distance of 23 feet and a diameter of 18 inches. The glass revolves the sextuple star Thera, one Orionis, which is regarded as a severe test. Mr. Tuttle, of the Boston society of natural history, tells what further has been disclosed by it:

"The telescope was then directed to the bright star Sirius, the most brilliant star in the whole heavens and popularly known as the Dog Star. All eyes eagerly sought for the minute companion star which Mr. Clark had discovered on the previous Friday evening, on the occasion of his first directing the telescope to that star. It required but little time for those accustomed to look at minute telescopic objects to discern the little stranger hovering close within the dazzling rays of the brilliant Sirius, and almost exactly following it in right ascension. Its minute, tremulous light, when once caught by the eye, was easily kept in view, and as the star ascended in altitude, became still better seen. In point of brilliancy, it does not differ greatly from the well-known 'sixth star in the trapezium' of Orion."

This telescope has removed both difficulties of spherical achromatic aberration, and shows the images of the stars as round, uniform discs, without any wings or wisps of light distorting their aspects.

WORTHY OF HIS NAME.—Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, grandson of the famous signer of the Declaration of Independence, is, with one or two exceptions, the largest slaveholder in Maryland. Kind as a parent to his three hundred negroes, he hails the President's plan of emancipation with gladness. He has told his slaves not to leave him, because the time would come when they would be free on their native soil, and that then he would employ them as free laborers at good wages.

Charles M'Tavish, another grandson of the signer, owns fifty slaves, and is heartily in favor of emancipation. But then he is a republican in politics, believes in the Chicago platform, and spoke, acted, and voted for Abraham Lincoln.

GREAT REDUCTION
—IN—
The Prices
—OF—
SINGER & CO.'S
STANDARD MACHINES,
Well known to be the best for
Manufacturing Purposes:

No. 1, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $90,
Reduced to $70.
No. 2, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $100,
Reduced to $75.

Singer's Letter A Machine,

IS the best Machine in the word for Family Sewing and Light Manufacturing purposes; Price, (with Hemmer,) and beautifully ornamented,

FIFTY DOLLARS.

The Nos. 1 and 2 machines are of great capacity and application for manufacturing purposes.
Our No. 3 machines are especially adapted to all kinds of light and heavy

in Carriage Trimming, Boot and Shoe Making, Harness Making, etc., etc. They are of extra size, with an arm long enough to take under it and stitch the largest sized dashes. There is scarcely any part of a Trimmers' stitching that cannot be better done with them than by hand; so, too, the saving of time and labor is very great. The table under these machines is 24 inches long, and the shuttle will hold six times the usual quantity of thread. The large machines work as fast as small ones.
We would ask for our Letter A machines, the special attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want machines for Light Manufacturing purposes. They embody the principles of the standard machines, making like them, the interlock stitch, and are destined to be as celebrated for Family Sewing and light manufacturing purposes as our standard machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.
We have always on hand

Hemming Guages, Silk Twist, Linen and Cotton Thread on Spools, Best Machine Oil in Bottles, etc., etc.

We manufacture our own Needles, and would warn all persons using our machines not to buy any others. We know that there are needles sold of the most inferior quality, at higher prices than we charge for the best. The needles sold by us are manufactured especially for our machines. A bad needle may render the best machine almost useless.
Our customers may rest assured that all our Branch Offices are furnished with the

GENUINE ARTICLE.

In case of small purchases, the money may be sent in postage stamps or bank notes.
Correspondents will please write their names distinctly. It is all important that we should in each case know the post office, county and state.
All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their size, prices, working capacities, and the best methods of purchasing, can obtain it by sending to us, or any of our Branch Offices for a copy of,

I. M. SINGER & CO.'S GAZETTE,

which is a beautifully illustrated Pictorial Paper. It will be sent Gratis

We have made the above Reduction in Prices with the two-fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves. The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are hid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Badly Made, are always liable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair.
The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainty of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and finished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this.
The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but last long in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will earn more money with less labor than any others, whether in imitation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper than any other machine as a gift.

Proclamation to the People of Wisconsin.

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to take from the people of this state its chief magistrate, the Hon. LOUIS P. HARVEY, who on the 19th of this month, lost his life in the waters of the Tennessee river, while executing a noble and self chosen mission of philanthrophy, in trying to recover from the recent battle field in Tennessee, the dead, and to alleviate the suffering of the wounded soldiers of this state; therefore, I, EDWARD SALOMON, governor of the state of Wisconsin, on assuming the duties devolved upon me by that sad event, do hereby, in behalf of this state, tender to the bereaved widow of its late beloved chief magistrate, the deep and sorrowful sympathy and condolence of its people, and I do hereby recommend that for thirty days from this date, all public offices, court houses, and other public buildings, be clad in mourning; and that during that time the people of this state wear the usual badges of mourning; and I do further appoint Thursday, the first day of May, A. D. 1862, as a day of public rest and cessation of business, and recommend to the people of this state that on that day, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock in the morning, they assemble in their respective towns, cities and villages, then and there to commemorate the death of the late governor, the Hon. LOUIS P. HARVEY, by such public demonstrations, as may be appropriate to the occasion.

EDWARD SALOMON, Governor.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, April 22d, 1862.

An English War Steamer for the Rebels.

The rumor from England that an iron war steamship has been built in that country, to act as a privateer in the service of Jeff. Davis, and that she is going to Bermuda, of course under English colors, to fit out and get a good ready to commence piracy, would not be credited, if the conduct of the British government towards us during the rebellion, did not justify the belief. If this should turn out to be true, it is not to be supposed that so flagrant a breach of neutrality will pass unnoticed by our government. If England will not keep her subjects from such gross interference in our affairs, there is no choice left but for our government to take them in hand. The possibility of such a breach of good faith ought not to be tolerated, as it interferes with commerce, and is highly detrimental to the interests of American trade on the seas. Great Britain should, if she does not intend to be hostile, take measures to prevent the privateer from leaving her waters.

Stanton and McClellan.

The friends of Gen. McClellan are making a great ado, just now, because their favorite cannot have the whole army of the Potomac at his back at Yorktown. They complain that the secretary of war will not respond to all the demands of this pampered "young general," and they, therefore circulate the story that he, Stanton, has not a good understanding with the president, and that he has resigned. It is not to be disguised that McClellan has fallen into the hands of the democratic politicians of the Vallandigham school, who wish to put him in training for the presidency.—It is feared that they have been managing him for this purpose all winter, hoping to outcamp the rebels, end the war without bloodshed, and in the restored Union, with the aid of the penitent rebels, have political matters all their own way. Stanton is a democrat, but of the fighting kind, and has, by his vigor and energy in prosecuting the war, interfered with the plans of Vallandighamites. Hence the war on Secretary Stanton.

GEN. GRANT.—The Cincinnati Gazette charges that Gen. Grant sacrificed his army in the recent battle, by incompetency and neglect. It also says that the story telegraphed to the New York Herald about Gen. Grant's heroism and great generalship, and of his leading the charge that broke the enemy's line on the second day, was pure romance. The reason why the Herald's correspondent indulged in this fiction is stated to be that Gen. Grant held a rigid censorship over the telegraph, and the correspondent took this method to propitiate the general, that he might be the first to transmit the news.

The Gazette indulges in a severe criticism of Gen. Grant's report, which the country is well prepared to believe is just. The three battles of Belmont, Fort Donelson and Pittsburgh Landing, in which this general was in chief command, were failures so far as generalship is concerned, and were saved from being defeats by the stubborn bravery of the men.

☞ Col. Jennison, of Kansas, has been arrested and taken to St. Louis. The cause of his arrest is not known, but it is supposed that hatred towards him for his opinion of slavery, on the part of such pro-slavery officers as Denver and Sturgis, is the real reason.

FLOOD AT CAIRO AND MOUND CITY.—There is a great flood at Cairo and Mound City, and the running of trains to both points has been suspended. The sick and wounded at the hospital in the latter place are to be removed to St. Louis. When the water subsides, it is thought that the evaporation of water from the standing pools will render the atmosphere pestilential.

THE ATLANTIC COAST.—As soon as General Burnside captures Fort Macon at Beaufort, N. C., we shall have possession of the entire Atlantic coast, with the exception of about one-half of each Carolinas.

CAMP No. 7, near Yorktown, Va., April 9th, 1862.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—I will try and give you a short history of our advance to this place: We left Newport News on the 4th inst., and the first day we marched to Young's Mill, about 16 miles. Here we drove the rebels from their camp; they had a large amount of barracks built and good fortifications, but they had previously taken away their cannon and stores. All that was left was a regiment of cavalry and two of infantry. We drove them clear back out of sight and camped for the night, our pickets one mile ahead of us. April 5th we again formed and started at daylight; we passed over about three miles, and again came upon their forces.

Our third brigade was in the advance, they engaged them and drove them into their forts. Here we found a chain of forts about six miles long, reaching from the James river to the York river, and across a large creek, which is dammed up and it flowed back so we could not cross it. We sent up two batteries and they opened fire on the rebels, but could not shell them out, as our guns were not large enough. Our brigade was then ordered up; we formed off to the right with our regiment into a large, swampy woods. The country here is all woods and swamp, only now and then a clear piece of say from fifty to one hundred acres of cleared land, and the country is entirely destitute of what few white men there were here. We skirmished all day, and at night we stopped in the woods three-quarters of a mile of one of their forts. They tried to shell us out, but they threw clear over us, and we lay still till daylight. April 6th we were all called together and marched around to find a good place of attack. We skirmished up to within forty rods of a large fort. The woods were not twenty-five rods from it. We were in them, and could see the rebels plainly and hear them talk. They fired on us about one hundred or more shots; some of them came mighty close to me. You ought to have seen us dodging about and getting behind the trees. We were there with Gen. Hancock and his engineers to get a plan of the fort, and to see the best point of attack. We were all ordered not to fire or expose ourselves to the rebels, because we did not want them to know where we were. No one fired but Ed Mills; he made one man lay down, and I do not know whether he has got up or not. After we had seen all we wanted to, and accomplished our object, we returned. We then got our regiment together, and found that only one man had been wounded. He received a slight wound in the leg, but it did not disable him in the least. We were then marched about four miles around through the swamp, and at 9 P. M. we reached a camp of our brigade and camped for the night, as tired a set of men as I ever saw. I laid down in the open air and slept soundly until morning, not even turning over. We had all got out of rations, and had not eaten more than two hard crackers each. We got a good supper, and when we awoke in the morning we felt better than we did the night before.

April 7th we moved our camp and got settled all right, but we found we were too near the rebel batteries. Gen. McClellan ordered us to move, and we packed up at one o'clock, and left. We marched about a mile to the right flank of the enemy, and deployed the first three companies as skirmishers, while two others were marched up as reserve; the other five companies were left with the baggage to bring up the rear. We skirmished until about 5 P. M., and halted. It commenced to rain, and it did rain in good earnest. We lay still until 8 P. M., when we got orders to march to our new camp. We came to a road and marched about a mile and met Capt. ——, with two pieces of artillery. He we had to form line with our five companies, and stay until 9½ P. M. Then the 5th Vermont came up and relieved us. We then marched about a mile further, and came to a cross road, and here our colonel did not know which way to go. Accordingly we waited until 11½ P. M., before a guide could be got to guide us to camp. All this time the rain poured down in torrents, and the mud and water was from six to twelve inches deep. After waiting two hours we were conducted about two miles through the worst road I ever saw, and the muddiest, to a camp. We broke ranks at a quarter past 1 A. M., after the men had been in the ranks nearly eleven hours without taking off their knapsacks. Here I will state we have to carry our tents, our knapsacks, and also our "grub," as the boys term it. But I never saw a lot of men that stood it so well. A great many of them said that if it was "patriotic" they would tear out their knapsacks and send them to the rear with the sick, but as they wanted the contents, they would stick to them. We staid around loose until morning, amusing ourselves until daylight, by building large fires and drying ourselves on one side while the other got wet again.

April 8th.—We are ordered to pack traps and move to a new camping ground. So we picked up our traps and started, the rain still falling quite hard. We came about half a mile and camped here, where we are yet.

April 9th.—Still raining, and at 5 P. M. no signs of its ever stopping. We are within one and a half miles of a rebel fort. There are about 2,000 men building roads to get on our heavy artillery, and as soon as we can get that up here we will give them a few of our respects in the shape of shot and shell. We will drive them from their holes I believe, but it is a big job. We have the advance of Keyes' corps de armee, our regiment first, and our company third in the regiment. Yours truly.

CROP PROSPECTS IN MIDDLE TENNESSEE.—The Nashville Banner of Saturday learns from persons who arrived there Friday from Maury, Williamson, and the adjacent counties, that the grain and fruit crops give promise of an abundant and healthy yield.

The state debt of Indiana is $11,400,000.

From Company F, 16th Regiment.

PITTSBURG LANDING, TENN.
Sunday Morning, April 13th, 1862.

One week ago this morning the bullets were flying through our camp like hail stones; we were forced to retreat, by inches, for about four miles, and the rebels came through our camp, and captured, carried off or destroyed all of our camp equipage, blankets, knapsacks, haversacks, overcoats, and what was the most valuable to us, all of our writing materials, and pictures of our friends that we left behind in Wisconsin. But the good Lord was on our side, and sent reinforcements just in time to drive them farther and harder than they did us. We followed them for two days, Monday and Tuesday, and Wednesday morning we returned to our own camp, and have laid on our arms every night. Since Sunday and Monday nights we have been without our overcoats and blankets, and it rained very hard most all the time. But what what was worst of all in passing over the battle field, on returning to camp, to see the ground covered with the dead and wounded. In some places the rebels laid three feet deep in piles.

Capt. Train was wounded in the cheek and the ball lodged in his neck and is there yet. The surgeon says that it would kill him to cut it out. He was taken down the river to Savannah, and I did not see him after he was wounded; his wife went with him, they are there now.

There were two of our boys shot dead, a few rods from camp. One was Ervin Cary, and the other Anthony Morse; Mr. McNown was mortally wounded, and Franklin Privey died on Tuesday at Savannah hospital. There were, we think, 26 of our company wounded, 4 killed, and one sure, and we think two taken prisoners by the rebels.

You will hear the official result of the battle long before I shall, although I am right in the midst of it, but a soldier is not allowed to know any news until it is stale. Our regiment looks rather small since the battle. Our Colonel and Lieut. Colonel were both wounded; Capt. Saxe of company A and his orderly were shot dead; all the corporals in our company were wounded except one. Lieut. Lymburn was sick at the time, and Lieut. Stevens took command after the captain was carried off the field. He is a fine, brave man, and a good officer, for one of his age.

We are now in the mud almost knee deep for it has rained the most of the time since the battle, and the movement of baggage wagons, artillery and cavalry have made the mud very deep, and we look more like brick makers than like soldiers.

B. D. HITCHCOCK.

From the Eighteenth Regiment.

[Extract from a private letter received in this city.]

PITTSBURG LANDING, TENN., April 12th, 1862.

I suppose you have been waiting anxiously to get a letter from me from St. Louis, but we staid there but one night and that night on the cars. We then went on board the boat, and after a trip of four days we were landed at this place on Saturday. We were marched that night to the extreme outskirts of the camp, in Gen. Prentiss' brigade. We pitched our tents on Saturday night, and everything was quiet; but early Sunday morning the battle commenced, and the 18th regiment was one of the first that they opened upon. We suffered terribly; our colonel was shot in the neck, and has since died; our lieutenant colonel was shot through his leg; our major was killed on the field; the adjutant is mortally wounded; and out of ten captains, we have only two left. Capt. Compton was killed instantly on the field—he was shot in the head. There are twenty-two of our company (G,) either dead, wounded or missing. The battle lasted all day Sunday and Monday. On Sunday our army was very badly beaten, but Monday we beat them on every side, and I guess they will not attack us again here; but I think we shall soon make a forward movement.

Out of nine hundred and fifty men that we had when we left Milwaukee, we now muster about five hundred. About four hundred and fifty men, all told, are dead, wounded and missing. The enemy drove us over two miles, and if we had not had two gunboats on the river, there would have been no hope left; but the boats threw such a stream of shot and shell that they could not stand, and they retreated about two miles, and camped in our tents. Sunday night we were reinforced by Gen. Buell, which gave our men courage, and on Monday it was an easy matter to drive them from our works and take back what we lost the day before.

After our regiment was cut up, Lieut. Cass collected about fifty men and fought with them the rest of the time, like a true soldier. Charley Rider is all right. Dennis Murphy and McRath are missing. The rest of the missing I guess you did not know.

The 16th regiment is encamped about a half a mile from us. I went to their camp and found your brother, Frank Halloway; he is well, and likes his company very well; he is coming to see me to-day. We have had a hard time since we left Milwaukee. There are about twenty-five of our company sick, but as a general thing not very dangerous. WM. W. PYNE,
Co. G, 18th Reg. W. V.

The rebels claim that Fort Macon, near Beaufort, N. C., which Gen. Burnside is now besieging, is provisioned for six months and will serve for eight or ten months if carefully preserved. There are five North Carolina regiments, numbering about three thousand effective men. Col. White, of the confederate army (Miss.), is in command.

The Wheeling (Va.) Intelligencer has not a very exalted opinion of Mr. Vallandigham's patriotism. It wonders that the "traitor" is tolerated on the face of the earth, much more that he is allowed to sit in congress like Catalina in the Roman senate, plotting all sorts of devilish hindrances and under handed stabs to the struggle for our national existence.

QUEENSTOWN, April 10.

Government has contracted for an iron cupalo ship, under Capt. Coles invention, to be ready for sea June 1st, 1863. Experiments with a gun of large size showed the best and hitherto considered invulnerable forms of iron sides, were, so to speak, almost as easily penetrable by a shot as if the targets had been of timber.

Sir Wm. Armstrong says that a gun of 12 tons weight would, with a charge of 50 pounds of powder, break through the sides of the Warrior, or the strongest ships afloat. The target like the Warrior's side was shattered into crumbs at the trial. The Times says no weapon of offense seems left us now so effective as large armor clad and very swift steam rams.

WASHINGTON, April 22.

SENATE.—Several petitions for emancipation and a bankrupt law were presented.

Mr. Clark, from the select committee on the case of Senator Stark, of Oregon, made a report, but whether adverse or not was not stated. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Anthony presented a resolution calling on the President for copies of all orders of the commanding general, instructions, &c., given to General Sherman, lately commanding the South Carolina department.

Mr. Anthony said the credit of taking Fort Pulaski belonged to him, and he believed that the correspondence could or would show that he had discharged all the duties required of him. If Savannah had not been taken it was because he acted in accordance with orders. He did not desire to disparage the merits of any one.

ST. LOUIS, April 22.

From a gentleman who left Memphis a few days after the battle of Pittsburgh, we learn that the rebels, putting both days of the battle together, still claim a victory.

Their claims rest on the supposition that more were killed, wounded and taken prisoners on the federal side than on their own.

Our informant says Prentiss made a speech to his troops in Memphis, in which he endeavored to modify their complaints, in relation to their treatment as to food, &c. He told them that they would soon be exchanged and rallied them generally to keep up good spirits.

Prentiss was in excellent temper. He owned up to a defeat on Sunday, but said that the rebels were badly whipped on Monday.

The prisoners were being sent to Richmond.

Our informant was in Huntsville when Mitchell reached there with his division. The seizure of the place was a complete surprise, and the occupation of the railroad between Decatur and Stevenson was regarded as the hardest blow the rebels had yet received. The rebels were preparing to make a desperate stand at Corinth, and fresh troops were constantly arriving at Memphis. When he left, business at Memphis was almost entirely stagnated, and the people generally believe they are on the eve of events which will speedily decide the war.

Rev. D. P. McNally, editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, has been arrested and placed in military prison, and his paper suppressed for publishing treasonable matter. His arrest causes no surprise, as the course of McNally's paper for some time past has been very obnoxious to the officers of the government.

The Bombardment of Fort Pillow.

ON THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER,

I arrived here yesterday in one of the transports, and found the gunboat and mortar fleet "blasting away" at the rebel works on the Tennessee shore, known as Fort Pillow or Fort Wright. Our flotilla consists of eight gunboats—the Benton, Carondelet, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Cairo, Mound City and Conestoga, a half dozen mortar-boats, and steam transports loaded with ammunition and stores. Five rebel gunboats were discovered here when our fleet approached, which were speedily driven away after firing a few shots.

The firing between the fortifications and our gunboats and mortars has been in progress at intervals since Monday. As yet no damage has been done to our fleet, but the enemy have suffered considerably, many of our big shells taking good effect on their works. The fort is located on a bend of the river, and we have many of the same difficulties to work against that embarrassed our operations at Island No. 10, but it is only a question of time when the rebels will be driven out of their entrenchments or be captured. These fortifications (for there is a series of them) are said to extend down the river bank for several miles to Fort Randolph, which is represented as a formidable position. Our best information places the number of the garrison at Fort Pillow at 5,000, and at Fort Randolph at 3,000. One Gen. Villipigue (pronounced rily pig) is in command at Pillow. Who he is, or what he amounts to, I can't say, never before having heard the name.

Com. Foote is confident of success here—"by patient perseverance, it may be, but successful surely." Little is known of the rebels' means of resistance, but the general opinion is that they will not be able to hold out more than a few days at the most, and that we will be in possession of Forts Pillow and Randolph by next week, and in one week more our guns will be pounding against the walls of the other Fort Pillow near Memphis, while according to all that we can ascertain, it is the strongest of the enemy's river fortifications.

Passing down we found all quiet at Island No. 10, yesterday. Col. Hegg's 15th Wisconsin regiment is quartered there.

[Special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

OFF FORT PILLOW, CAIRO, April 19.

The enemy's gunboats have laid behind Craig Head Point for two or three nights past, fearing an attempt on our part to run the blockade.

The firing upon both sides on Thursday, was very heavy. The mortars opened at noon, four being in operation. The enemy replied immediately and briskly from the land batteries, throwing shell clear over us, and nearly across the river to the Tennessee shore.

Their firing was very accurate and from very heavy guns.

The St. Louis, Carondolet and Cairo, stationed as picket stops near the extremity of the point, were obliged to move up the river several times to get out of range.

A skiff attached to a mortar raft was hit by a shell and dashed to pieces. The shells flew thick and all about our gunboats, but none were hit.

On Thursday night the mortars commenced firing at 8 o'clock, the enemy replying immediately, and the fire was kept up until midnight.

A rebel shell exploded directly above the stern awnings of the St. Louis, slightly injuring one man in the wrist, another shell struck the broadside casemate of the Cairo, but did no damage. The firing ceased at midnight.

Yesterday but little was done except a few shots fired by the mortars. In the morning the mortars were shifted from the Arkansas to the Tennessee shore for the greater protection. In their past locality they have been in great danger from bands of rebel scouts prowling through the woods. These scouts have already cut the levee in two or three places, to embarrass the operations of the mortars.

Deserters are being rapidly taken both from the rebel gunboats and from their batteries. They say that nearly all the crews of the gunboats have been impressed, and so great is the fear of the officers lest they desert that they frequently muster them every hour in the day.

The batteries now mount about forty very heavy guns. They have sixty more guns, which they are rapidly putting in position. Within the past few days Bragg has arrived, and succeeds Gen. Villipague, hitherto in command. There are about 6,000 troops there. Both and guns are from Pensacola.

There are but four gunboats in the river—the Mariposa, Macray, Pontchartrain and Livingston, mounting a total of twenty-four guns. The Ivy has gone to New Orleans with Hollins on board. The Gen. Polk is at Memphis repairing. Capt. Engee is acting commodore in Hollins absence.

An independent company at Memphis has five boats below Fort Pillow, intended to grapple on to our fleet and take it down to Dixie.

There are four rams at New Orleans, among them the Manassas. Active preparations are not expected at present.

Commodore Foote suffers severely from his wound received at Donelson.

Lieut. Gov. Salomon.

It is a fortunate circumstance that the people last fall did, what they have sometimes neglected, and, in selecting a lieutenant governor, chose a man capable of discharging the high responsibilities of chief magistrate creditably to himself and advantageously to the state.

By the death of Gov. Harvey, Edward Salomon becomes governor of the state. Though but recently a private citizen, and until the present year entirely inexperienced in the duties of public office, he has acquitted himself as the presiding officer of the senate in a manner fully justifying the expectations of those who urged his election. We believe he possesses every qualification for satisfactorily discharging the duties of the responsible position to which he is called. He has firmness of character, clearness of perception, solid, practical good sense, and a character for integrity that has never been questioned. We believe that he will prove a judicious, economical and popular governor.

Mr. Salomon is a German by birth. He has however resided most of his life in this country, is a thorough master of our language, and as a successful and accomplished lawyer is fully conversant with American institutions and modes of business.—Madison Journal.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company

OF THE

STATE OF WISCONSIN,

Presents advantages in all respects equal, and in some superior, to those of other companies doing business in the northwest. Its rates, its plan of operations, and its basis, are identical with the best companies in this country and Europe. Its age, and consequently its accumulations, are not equal to theirs in amount, but in proportion to the age of risks, and amount at risk, they will compare favorably with the most successful.

Its assets, which have resulted solely from the accumulations of three years, amount to $86,881.20, and its annual income, from policies now in force, over $65,000.

Its assets and business are constantly increasing. Its losses have been promptly paid. Its trustees are well known, honorable business men, and are as capable of managing an institution of this kind, as men in any other portion of the United States. The experience of the company thus far proves that we can have as reliable companies in the west as any where else, if we will, and self-interest certainly indicates that we should have them, and build up home interests in every practicable way. In the above respects, this company claims equality with its co-workers, and in the following superiority: It obtains the greater portion of its business in the healthiest portion of the United States, thus having the advantage of a less per centage of loss; it receives higher rates of interest on its investments, thus making more rapid accumulations—both very important items in Life Insurance; and its expenses have been less in proportion to its business than any other new company doing business in the United States.

S. S. DAGGETT, President.
A. W. KELLOGG, Secretary.
H. G. WILSON, General Agent.

The company has a large number of lives insured in Janesville. Applications for insurance received by the agent, Willard Merrill, at his law office in Lappin's block.

Proclamation to the People of Wisconsin.

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to take from the people of this state its chief magistrate, the Hon. LOUIS P. HARVEY, who on the 19th of this month, lost his life in the waters of the Tennessee river, while executing a noble and self-chosen mission of philanthropy, in trying to recover from the recent battle field in Tennessee, the dead, and to alleviate the suffering of the wounded soldiers of this state; therefore, I, EDWARD SALOMON, governor of the state of Wisconsin, on assuming the duties devolved upon me by that sad event, do hereby, in behalf of this state, tender to the bereaved widow of its late beloved chief magistrate, the deep and sorrowful sympathy and condolence of its people, and I do hereby recommend that for thirty days from this date, all public offices, court houses and other public buildings, be clad in mourning; and that during that time the people of this state wear the usual badges of mourning; and I do further appoint Thursday, the first day of May, A. D. 1862, as a day of public rest and cessation of business, and recommend to the people of this state that on that day, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock in the morning, they assemble to their respective towns, cities and villages, then and there to commemorate the death of the late governor, the Hon. LOUIS P. HARVEY, by such public demonstrations, as may be appropriate to the occasion.

EDWARD SALOMON, Governor.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, April 22d, 1862.

An English War Steamer for the Rebels.

The rumor from England that an iron war steamship has been built in that country, to act as a privateer in the service of Jeff. Davis, and that she is going to Bermuda, of course under English colors, to fit out and get a good ready to commence piracy, would not be credited, if the conduct of the British government towards us during the rebellion, did not justify the belief. If this should turn out to be true, it is not to be supposed that so flagrant a breach of neutrality will pass unnoticed by our government. If England will not keep her subjects from such gross interference in our affairs, there is no choice left but for our government to take them in hand. The possibility of such a breach of good faith ought not to be tolerated, as it interferes with commerce, and is highly detrimental to the interests of American trade on the seas. Great Britain should, if she does not intend to be hostile, take measures to prevent the privateer from leaving her waters.

Stanton and McClellan.

The friends of Gen. McClellan are making a great ado, just now, because their favorite cannot have the whole army of the Potomac at his back at Yorktown. They complain that the secretary of war will not respond to all the demands of this pampered "young general," and they, therefore circulate the story that he, Stanton, has not a good understanding with the president, and that he has resigned. It is not to be disguised that McClellan has fallen into the hands of the democratic politicians of the Vallandigham school, who wish to put him in training for the presidency.—It is feared that they have been managing him for this purpose all winter, hoping to outcamp the rebels, end the war without bloodshed, and in the restored Union, with the aid of the penitent rebels, have political matters all their own way. Stanton is a democrat, but of the fighting kind, and has, by his vigor and energy in prosecuting the war, interfered with the plans of Vallandighamites. Hence the war on Secretary Stanton.

GEN. GRANT.—The Cincinnati Gazette charges that Gen. Grant sacrificed his army in the recent battle, by incompetency and neglect. It also says that the story telegraphed to the New York Herald about Gen. Grant's heroism and great generalship, and of his leading the charge that broke the enemy's line on the second day, was pure romance. The reason why the Herald's correspondent indulged in this fiction is stated to be that Gen. Grant held a rigid censorship over the telegraph, and the correspondent took this method to propitiate the general, that he might be the first to transmit the news.

The Gazette indulges in a severe criticism of Gen. Grant's report, which the country is well prepared to believe is just. The three battles of Belmont, Fort Donelson and Pittsburgh Landing, in which this general was in chief command, were failures so far as generalship is concerned, and were saved from being defeats by the stubborn bravery of the men.

☞ Col. Jennison, of Kansas, has been arrested and taken to St. Louis. The cause of his arrest is not known, but it is supposed that hatred towards him for his opinion of slavery, on the part of such pro-slavery officers as Denver and Sturgis, is the real reason.

FLOOD AT CAIRO AND MOUND CITY.—There is a great flood at Cairo and Mound City, and the running of trains to both points has been suspended. The sick and wounded at the hospital in the latter place are to be removed to St. Louis. When the water subsides, it is thought that the evaporation of water from the standing pools will render the atmosphere pestilential.

THE ATLANTIC COAST.—As soon as General Burnside captures Fort Macon at Beaufort, N. C., we shall have possession of the entire Atlantic coast, with the exception of about one-half of each Carolinas.

From the Fifth Regiment.

CAMP No. 7, near Yorktown, Va., April 9th, 1862.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—I will try and give you a short history of our advance to this place. We left Newport News on the 4th inst., and the first day we marched to Young's Mill, about 16 miles. Here we drove the rebels from their camp; they had a large amount of barracks built and good fortifications, but they had previously taken away their cannon and stores. All that was left was a regiment of cavalry and two of infantry. We drove them clear back out of sight and camped for the night, our pickets one mile ahead of us. April 5th we again formed and started at daylight; we passed over about three miles, and again came upon their forces.

Our third brigade was in the advance, they engaged them and drove them into their forts. Here we found a chain of forts about six miles long, reaching from the James river to the York river, and across a large creek, which is dammed up and it flowed back so we could not cross it. We sent up two batteries and they opened fire on the rebels, but could not shell them out, as our guns were not large enough. Our brigade was then ordered up; we formed off to the right with our regiment into a large, swampy woods. The country here is all woods and swamp, only now and then a clear piece of say from fifty to one hundred acres of cleared land, and the country is entirely destitute of what few white men there were here. We skirmished all day, and at night we stopped in the woods three-quarters of a mile of one of their forts. They tried to shell us out, but they threw clear over us, and we lay still till daylight. April 6th we were all called together and marched around to find a good place of attack. We skirmished up to within forty rods of a large fort. The woods were not twenty-five rods from it. We were in them, and could see the rebels plainly and hear them talk. They fired on us about one hundred or more shots; some of them came mighty close to me. You ought to have seen us dodging about and getting behind the trees. We were there with Gen. Hancock and his engineers to get a plan of the fort, and to see the best point of attack. We were all ordered not to fire or expose ourselves to the rebels, because we did not want them to know where we were. No one fired but Ed Mills; he made one man lay down, and I do not know whether he has got up or not. After we had seen all we wanted to, and accomplished our object, we returned. We then got our regiment together, and found that only one man had been wounded. He received a slight wound in the leg, but it did not disable him in the least. We were then marched about four miles around through the swamp, and at 9 P. M. we reached a camp of our brigade and camped for the night, as tired a set of men as I ever saw. I laid down in the open air and slept soundly until morning, not even turning over. We had all got out of rations, and had not eaten more than two hard crackers each. We got a good supper, and when we awoke in the morning we felt better than we did the night before.

April 7th we moved our camp and got settled all right, but we found we were too near the rebel batteries. Gen. McClellan ordered us to move, and we packed up at one o'clock, and left. We marched about a mile to the right flank of the enemy, and deployed the first three companies as skirmishers, while two others were marched up as reserve; the other five companies were left with the baggage to bring up the rear. We skirmished until about 5 P. M., and halted. It commenced to rain, and it did rain in good earnest. We lay still until 8 P. M., when we got orders to march to our new camp. We came to a road and marched about a mile and met Capt. ——, with two pieces of artillery. He we had to form line with our five companies, and stay until 9½ P. M. Then the 5th Vermont came up and relieved us. We then marched about a mile further, and came to a cross road, and here our colonel did not know which way to go. Accordingly we waited until 11½ P. M., before a guide could be got to guide us to camp. All this time the rain poured down in torrents, and the mud and water was from six to twelve inches deep. After waiting two hours we were conducted about two miles through the worst road I ever saw, and the muddiest, to a camp. We broke ranks at a quarter past 1 A. M., after the men had been in the ranks nearly eleven hours without taking off their knapsacks. Here I will state we have to carry our tents, our knapsacks, and also our "grub," as the boys term it. But I never saw a lot of men that stood it so well. A great many of them said that if it was "patriotic" they would tear out their knapsacks and send them to the rear with the sick, but as they wanted the contents, they would stick to them. We staid around loose until morning, amusing ourselves until daylight, by building large fires and drying ourselves on one side while the other got wet again.

April 8th.—We are ordered to pack traps and move to a new camping ground. So we picked up our traps and started, the rain still falling quite hard. We came about half a mile and camped here, where we are yet.

April 9th.—Still raining, and at 5 P. M. no signs of its ever stopping. We are within one and a half miles of a rebel fort. There are about 2,000 men building roads to get on our heavy artillery, and as soon as we can get that up here we will give them a few of our respects in the shape of shot and shell. We will drive them from their holes I believe, but it is a big job. We have the advance of Keyes' corps de armee, our regiment first, and our company third in the regiment. Yours truly.

CROP PROSPECTS IN MIDDLE TENNESSEE.—The Nashville Banner of Saturday learns from persons who arrived there Friday from Maury, Williamson, and the adjacent counties, that the grain and fruit crops give promise of an abundant and healthy yield.

The state debt of Indiana is $11,400,000.

From Company F, 16th Regiment.

PITTSBURG LANDING, TENN.
Sunday Morning, April 13th, 1862.

One week ago this morning the bullets were flying through our camp like hail stones; we were forced to retreat, by inches, for about four miles, and the rebels came through our camp, and captured, carried off or destroyed all of our camp equipage, blankets, knapsacks, haversacks, overcoats, and what was the most valuable to us, all of our writing materials, and pictures of our friends that we left behind in Wisconsin. But the good Lord was on our side, and sent reinforcements just in time to drive them farther and harder than they did us. We followed them for two days, Monday and Tuesday, and Wednesday morning we returned to our own camp, and have laid on our arms every night. Since Sunday and Monday nights we have been without our overcoats and blankets, and it rained very hard most all the time. But what what was worst of all in passing over the battle field, on returning to camp, to see the ground covered with the dead and wounded. In some places the rebels laid three feet deep in piles.

Capt. Train was wounded in the cheek and the ball lodged in his neck and is there yet. The surgeon says that it would kill him to cut it out. He was taken down the river to Savannah, and I did not see him after he was wounded; his wife went with him, they are there now.

There were two of our boys shot dead, a few rods from camp. One was Ervin Cary, and the other Anthony Morse; Mr. McNown was mortally wounded, and Franklin Privey died on Tuesday at Savannah hospital. There were, we think, 26 of our company wounded, 4 killed, and one sure, and we think two taken prisoners by the rebels.

You will hear the official result of the battle long before I shall, although I am right in the midst of it, but a soldier is not allowed to know any news until it is stale. Our regiment looks rather small since the battle. Our Colonel and Lieut. Colonel were both wounded; Capt. Saxe of company A and his orderly were shot dead; all the corporals in our company were wounded except one. Lieut. Lymburn was sick at the time, and Lieut. Stevens took command after the captain was carried off the field. He is a fine, brave man, and a good officer, for one of his age.

We are now in the mud almost knee deep for it has rained the most of the time since the battle, and the movement of baggage wagons, artillery and cavalry have made the mud very deep, and we look more like brick makers than like soldiers.

B. D. HITCHCOCK.

From the Eighteenth Regiment.

[Extract from a private letter received in this city.]

PITTSBURG LANDING, TENN., April 12th, 1862.

I suppose you have been waiting anxiously to get a letter from me from St. Louis, but we staid there but one night and that night on the cars. We then went on board the boat, and after a trip of four days we were landed at this place on Saturday. We were marched that night to the extreme outskirts of the camp, in Gen. Prentiss' brigade. We pitched our tents on Saturday night, and everything was quiet; but early Sunday morning the battle commenced, and the 18th regiment was one of the first that they opened upon. We suffered terribly; our colonel was shot in the neck, and has since died; our lieutenant colonel was shot through his leg; our major was killed on the field; the adjutant is mortally wounded; and out of ten captains, we have only two left. Capt. Compton was killed instantly on the field—he was shot in the head. There are twenty-two of our company (G,) either dead, wounded or missing. The battle lasted all day Sunday and Monday. On Sunday our army was very badly beaten, but Monday we beat them on every side, and I guess they will not attack us again here; but I think we shall soon make a forward movement.

Out of nine hundred and fifty men that we had when we left Milwaukee, we now muster about five hundred. About four hundred and fifty men, all told, are dead, wounded and missing. The enemy drove us over two miles, and if we had not had two gunboats on the river, there would have been no hope left; but the boats threw such a stream of shot and shell that they could not stand, and they retreated about two miles, and camped in our tents. Sunday night we were reinforced by Gen. Buell, which gave our men courage, and on Monday it was an easy matter to drive them from our works and take back what we lost the day before.

After our regiment was cut up, Lieut. Case collected about fifty men and fought with them the rest of the time, like a true soldier. Charley Rider is all right. Dennis Murphy and McRath are missing. The rest of the missing I guess you did not know.

The 16th regiment is encamped about a half a mile from us. I went to their camp and found your brother, Frank Halloway; he is well, and likes his company very well; he is coming to see me to-day. We have had a hard time since we left Milwaukee. There are about twenty-five of our company sick, but as a general thing not very dangerous.

WM. W. PYNE,
Co. G, 18th Reg. W. V.

The rebels claim that Fort Macon, near Beaufort, N. C., which Gen. Burnside is now beseiging, is provisioned for six months and will serve for eight or ten months if carefully preserved. There are five North Carolina regiments, numbering about three thousand effective men. Col. White, of the confederate army (Miss.), is in command.

The Wheeling (Va.) Intelligencer has not a very exalted opinion of Mr. Vallandigham's patriotism. It wonders that the "traitor" is tolerated on the face of the earth, much more that he is allowed to sit in congress like Cataline in the Roman senate, plotting all sorts of devilish hindrances and under handed stabs to the struggle for our national existence.

AUGUSTA, April 18.

The Savannah Morning News says that a skirmish took place at Whitmarsh Island, on Wednesday, between some companies of the 15th Georgia and a Michigan regiment, in which the latter were repulsed.

An accident occured on the Atlantic and West Point railroad at Greene, Tennessee, by which about 200 confederate soldiers were killed, and six slightly wounded.

The Richmond Enquirer, of Friday, says: The rebel court of inquiry, which has been deliberating for sometime past upon the advisability of releasing John M. A refugee from Richmond says that there are batteries in four places on the James river, none of which could withstand a heavy force from mailed gunboats.

WASHINGTON, April 21.

A message reached the senate from the president, to-day, touching the arrest of ex-Secretary Cameron, at the instance of Pierce Butler. The president avows Butler's arrest to be his act, done under his authority, and avers that it was justified by state necessity.

The nomination of Col. Tuttle, of the 2d Iowa, as a brigadier general has been determined upon.

Gen. Rosencranz is in command of corps. He will soon be heard from.

The following telegram gives the rebel account of a skirmish in North Carolina of which we have no news;

GOLDSBORO, April 15.

On Monday last, below Pollockville, near Reuinsbar, a skirmish took place between a detachment of the 22d N. C. cavalry regiment, and the enemy's pickets. Lieut. Col. WASHINGTON, April 21.

The senate to-day confirmed the nomination of Samuel F. Vinton and Daniel R. Goodle, as commissioners to abolish slavery in the District; also the following:—F. Hinds, of Missouri, 2d lieutenant in the 1st infantry, for gallantry at Springfield, and for faithful service to Gen. Lyon; Jno. S. Fillmore, of Colorado, to be an additional paymaster; Mr. Warren, of Iowa, assistant quartermaster; P. Allen, of Illinois, commissary of subsistence; and Alford Russell, United States attorney for Michigan.

It is stated that Dr. Wm. A. Hammond, of Pennsylvania, has been designated for the position of surgeon general of the U. S. army.

BOSTON, April 21.

SPRINGFIELD, March 21.

At Northampton the water is two feet higher than ever before, and at Hadley there is no land to be seen, and the inhabitants go from house to house in boats.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

LIVERPOOL, April 9.

Breadstuffs—Flour active and steady. Wheat dull and steady. Corn quiet and steady. Pork quiet, tending downward.

LONDON, April 8.

Breadstuffs dull but steady. The Sumter was still at Gibralter and the Tuscarora at Algiers on the 3d. The sloop-of-war Kearsage, after a two days visit to Gibralter, left for the west.

In parliament, D'Israeli made an attack on Gladstone's financial policy and budget

QUEENSTOWN, April 10.

Government has contracted for an iron cupalo ship, under Capt. Coles invention, to be ready for sea June 1st, 1863. Experiments with a gun of large size showed the best and hitherto considered invulnerable forms of iron sides, were, so to speak, almost as easily penetrable by a shot as if the targets had been of timber.

Sir Wm. Armstrong says that a gun of 12 tons weight would, with a charge of 50 pounds of powder, break through the sides of the Warrior, or the strongest ships afloat. The target like the Warrior's side was shattered into crumbs at the trial. The Times says no weapon of offense seems left us now so effective as large armor clad and very swift steam rams.

ZANESVILLE, April 22.

ST. JOHNS, N. F. April 22.

The ice has entirely disappeared from the vicinity of Cape Race, and it is confidently anticipated that European news will be obtained there immediately.

WASHINGTON, April 22.

SENATE.—Several petitions for emancipation and a bankrupt law were presented.

Mr. Clark, from the select committee on the case of Senator Stark, of Oregon, made a report, but whether adverse or not was not stated. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Anthony presented a resolution calling on the President for copies of all orders of the commanding general, instructions, &c., given to General Sherman, lately commanding the South Carolina department.

Mr. Anthony said the credit of taking Fort Pulaski belonged to him, and he believed that the correspondence could or would show that he had discharged all the duties required of him. If Savannah had not been taken it was because he acted in accordance with orders. He did not desire to disparage the merits of any one.

ST. LOUIS, April 22.

From a gentleman who left Memphis a few days after the battle of Pittsburgh, we learn that the rebels, putting both days of the battle together, still claim a victory.

Their claims rest on the supposition that more were killed, wounded and taken prisoners on the federal side than on their own.

Our informant says Prentiss made a speech to his troops in Memphis, in which he endeavored to modify their complaints, in relation to their treatment as to food, &c. He told them that they would soon be exchanged and rallied them generally to keep up good spirits.

Prentiss was in excellent temper. He owned up to a defeat on Sunday, but said that the rebels were badly whipped on Monday.

The prisoners were being sent to Richmond.

Our informant was in Huntsville when Mitchell reached there with his division. The seizure of the place was a complete surprise, and the occupation of the railroad between Decatur and Stevenson was regarded as the hardest blow the rebels had yet received. The rebels were preparing to make a desperate stand at Corinth, and fresh troops were constantly arriving at Memphis. When he left, business at Memphis was almost entirely stagnated, and the people generally believe they are on the eve of events which will speedily decide the war.

Rev. D. P. McNally, editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, has been arrested and placed in military prison, and his paper suppressed for publishing treasonable matter. His arrest causes no surprise, as the course of McNally's paper for some time past has been very obnoxious to the officers of the government.

The Bombardment of Fort Pillow.

ON THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER.

I arrived here yesterday in one of the transports, and found the gunboat and mortar fleet "blasting away" at the rebel works on the Tennessee shore, known as Fort Pillow or Fort Wright. Our flotilla consists of eight gunboats—the Benton, Carondelet, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Cairo, Mound City and Conestoga, a half dozen mortar-boats, and steam transports loaded with ammunition and stores. Five rebel gunboats were discovered here when our fleet approached, which were speedily driven away after firing a few shots.

The firing between the fortifications and our gunboats and mortars has been in progress at intervals since Monday. As yet no damage has been done to our fleet, but the enemy have suffered considerably, many of our big shells taking good effect on their works. The fort is located on a bend of the river, and we have many of the same difficulties to work against that embarrassed our operations at Island No. 10, but it is only a question of time when the rebels will be driven out of their entrenchments or be captured. These fortifications (for there is a series of them) are said to extend down the river bank for several miles to Fort Randolph, which is represented as a formidable position. Our best information places the number of the garrison at Fort Pillow at 5,000, and at Fort Randolph at 3,000. One Gen. Villipigne (pronounced rily pig) is in command at Pillow. Who he is, or what he amounts to, I can't say, never before having heard the name.

Com. Foote is confident of success here—"by patient perseverance, it may be, but successful surely." Little is known of the rebels' means of resistance, but the general opinion is that they will not be able to hold out more than a few days at the most, and that we will be in possession of Forts Pillow and Randolph by next week, and in one week more our guns will be pounding against the walls of the other Fort Pillow near Memphis, while according to all that we can ascertain, it is the strongest of the enemy's river fortifications.

Passing down we found all quiet at Island No. 10, yesterday. Col. Hegg's 15th Wisconsin regiment is quartered there.

[Special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

OFF FORT PILLOW, CAIRO, April 19.

The enemy's gunboats have laid behind Craig Head Point for two or three nights past, fearing an attempt on our part to run the blockade.

The firing upon both sides on Thursday, was very heavy. The mortars opened at noon, four being in operation. The enemy replied immediately and briskly from the land batteries, throwing shell clear over us, and nearly across the river to the Tennessee shore.

Their firing was very accurate and from very heavy guns.

The St. Louis, Carondelet and Cairo, stationed as picket stops near the extremity of the point, were obliged to move up the river several times to get out of range.

A skiff attached to a mortar raft was hit by a shell and dashed to pieces. The shells flew thick and all about our gunboats, but none were hit.

On Thursday night the mortars commenced firing at 8 o'clock, the enemy replying immediately, and the fire was kept up until midnight.

A rebel shell exploded directly above the stern awnings of the St. Louis, slightly injuring one man in the wrist, another shell struck the broadside casemate of the Cairo, but did no damage. The firing ceased at midnight.

Yesterday but little was done except a few shots fired by the mortars. In the morning the mortars were shifted from the Arkansas to the Tennessee shore for the greater protection. In their past locality they have been in great danger from bands of rebel scouts prowling through the woods. These scouts have already cut the levee in two or three places, to embarrass the operations of the mortars.

Deserters are being rapidly taken both from the rebel gunboats and from their batteries. They say that nearly all the crews of the gunboats have been impressed, and so great is the fear of the officers lest they desert that they frequently muster them every hour in the day.

The batteries now mount about forty very heavy guns. They have sixty more guns, which they are rapidly putting in position. Within the past few days Bragg has arrived, and succeeds Gen. Villipage, hitherto in command. There are about 6,000 troops there. Both and guns are from Pensacola.

There are but four gunboats in the river—the Mariposa, Macray, Pontchartrain and Livingston, mounting a total of twenty-four guns. The Ivy has gone to New Orleans with Hollins on board. The Gen. Polk is at Memphis repairing. Capt. Engee is acting commodore in Hollins absence.

An independent company at Memphis has five boats below Fort Pillow, intended to grapple on to our fleet and take it down to Dixie.

There are four rams at New Orleans, among them the Manassas. Active preparations are not expected at present.

Commodore Foote suffers severely from his wound received at Donelson.

Lieut. Gov. Salomon.

It is a fortunate circumstance that the people last fall did, what they have sometimes neglected, and, in selecting a lieutenant governor, chose a man capable of discharging the high responsibilities of chief magistrate creditably to himself and advantageously to the state.

By the death of Gov. Harvey, Edward Salomon becomes governor of the state. Though but recently a private citizen, and until the present year entirely inexperienced in the duties of public office, he has acquitted himself as the presiding officer of the senate in a manner fully justifying the expectations of those who urged his election. We believe he possesses every qualification for satisfactorily discharging the duties of the responsible position to which he is called. He has firmness of character, clearness of perception, solid, practical good sense, and a character for integrity that has never been questioned. We believe that he will prove a judicious, economical and popular governor.

Mr. Salomon is a German by birth. He has however resided most of his life in this country, is a thorough master of our language, and as a successful and accomplished lawyer is fully conversant with American institutions and modes of business.—Madison Journal.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company
OF THE
STATE OF WISCONSIN,

Presents advantages in all respects equal, and in some superior, to those of other companies doing business in the northwest. Its rates, its plan of operations, and its basis, are identical with the best companies in this country and Europe. Its age, and consequently its accumulations, are not equal to theirs in amount, but in proportion to the age of risks, and amount at risk, they will compare favorably with the most successful.

Its assets, which have resulted solely from the accumulations of three years, amount to $86,881.20, and its annual income, from policies now in force, over $65,000.

Its assets and business are constantly increasing. Its losses have been promptly paid. Its trustees are well known, honorable business men, and are as capable of managing an institution of this kind, as men in any other portion of the United States. The experience of the company thus far proves that we can have as reliable companies in the west as any where else, if we will, and self-interest certainly indicates that we should have them, and build up home interests in every practicable way. In the above respects, this company claims equality with its co-workers, and in the following superiority: It obtains the greater portion of its business in the healthiest portion of the United States, thus having the advantage of a less per centage of loss; it receives higher rates of interest on its investments, thus making more rapid accumulations—both very important items in Life Insurance; and its expenses have been less in proportion to its business than any other new company doing business in the United States.

S. S. DAGGETT, President.
A. W. KELLOGG, Secretary.
H. G. WILSON, General Agent.

Lateness of the Season.

Considerable alarm is felt throughout the north-west on account of the lateness of season, preventing the sowing of wheat and other grains at a proper time to insure good crops. The region south of us, in Illinois, being much of it clay soil and very flat, will suffer the most in this respect. We hear that in central Illinois farmers have generally abandoned the idea of sowing spring grains. In this region, the soil being naturally easily drained, the delay will not be so great, although there is always increased danger to late crops, from the effects of blight, chinch bug, etc. Our farmers are now busily engaged in putting in their wheat, the soil being comparatively dry, from the cessation of rains for the last few days. We hope they may be rewarded with good crops, but the chances are against them.

Correspondence of the Janesville Daily Gazette.
SUNDAY EVENING, April 13, 1862, On Board Gladiator.

To-day Gen. Strong and staff, with some friends from the east, visited the hospital at Mound City some six miles above Cairo, on the Illinois bank of the Ohio. Gov. Harvey and a portion of our company were invited guests.

The hospital now contains not far from one thousand sick and wounded soldiers; and is capable of accommodating full fifteen hundred. It is the grandest affair for a hospital one could well imagine. A block of some ten stores, three stories high—built of brick in the most substantial and costly style of the high times of speculation, is now occupied for the first time by this appropriation to hospital uses. Each store furnishes three wards, one above the other. They all appear clean, and are well arranged and thoroughly ventilated. The provisions for care, comfort and medical attendance are ample and excellent. Our fellow citizen, Dr. Whiting, is here by special invitation of Dr. Franklin, the physician in charge, who found out the doctor's worth during the few weeks tarry, he made here soon after Fort Donaldson fight.

We found some thirty Wisconsin boys in the hospital, comprising sick belonging to the 8th and 16th; and wounded in the late engagement, belonging to the 14th, 16th, and 18th. They appeared wonderfully cheerful amid their sufferings—grateful for the care and kindness shown them—and, Oh! how grateful for the visit, and sympathizing words of their Governor, and the friends from Wisconsin. It was well worth coming this distance to work the good our friendly hand shaking, and cheering words seemed to do these poor fellows. It was better than medicine. We saw many a brave man's eye fill with tears, and many a "God bless you" followed us.

We leave two of the physicians of our party and three or four boxes of our hospital stores at the hospital to-night.

We came away highly impressed with Dr. Franklin, both as a gentleman and a physician, and especially with his excellent management of this hospital.

April 14th, 1862.

Since yesterday I have learned some facts in regard to the ill-fated 18th regiment, which may prove of interest to your readers, and as I have an opportunity to mail this at Paducah, Kentucky, I avail myself of it. Being the last regiment organized it remained in camp at Milwaukee, amid the snow and ice of an inclement winter, was sent to Benton Barracks, St. Louis with the understanding that it would remain there to perfect its drill. Was immediately ordered to Pittsburgh Landing, arriving on Friday evening; was sent on Saturday to the advance of Gen. Prentiss' division, and four companies detached for picket duty the same night. Consequently they had no battalion or regimental drill of any amount. Furthermore the officers had but little if any experience in military matters. You know the rest, they are surprised, retreated, fighting like heroes as they go—forming anew as their lines are broken, until the regiment is almost annihilated. Well may I say, somebody is responsible. M.

FURLOUGHS.—In consequence of the innumerable applications daily made to Col. Mulligan, by furloughed soldiers, for transportation to their regiments, he has written to Assistant Adjutant General J. C. Kelton, at St. Louis, in regard to the course to be pursued in such cases, and has received the following reply:

"Men who go on furlough should pay their way back. Men furloughed for wounds received in battle, when too poor to pay their transportation, will receive a pass to their regiment. Men absent more than two months from their regiment on account of disability must be reported to headquarters, when they will be discharged in order, unless their disability proceeds from wounds received in battle."

Gone from the post of duty, gone with harness on,
'Over the river,' to the farther shore!
Veiled sadly from our vision, sleeping his last sleep,
Ended his earthly task, his labors o'er!
Rovering freedom, justice, to the latest hour,
No thought had he save for his country's good!
On mercy's holy mission—to relieve distress—
Ran he his race, and sank beneath the flood!

He, being dead, speaketh to our aching hearts.
Ah! how we loved him for the deeds he wrought!
Radiant with patriotic light his kindly soul,
Valiant for freedom, truth his highest thought!
Eternal One! who ru'eth over all,
Yield us support, while good men round us fall!

Janesville, April 22d, 1862. — W —

MRS. HARVEY.—The Madison Journal relates the circumstances under which Mrs. Harvey obtained the sad tidings of the death of her husband. She was at capitol when the dispatch was received by Adjutant-General Gaylord, obtaining subscriptions to aid a destitute family in the city. An attempt was made to get her to her boarding place before the contents of the dispatch were made known. She at once saw by the countenances of those whom she met that some bad tidings had been received. Adjutant-General Gaylord and Mr. Sawyer, her brother-in-law, attempted to accompany her home, and told her that a rumor had been received that gave him some anxiety in regard to the Govenor. As Gen. Gaylord was attempting to conceal the full extent of the calamity, she stopped while they were walking through the Park and said: "Tell me if he is dead!" While he evaded a direct reply, she read the fatal news in the expression of his face and dropped senseless upon the walk. She was soon revived sufficiently to by conveyed home, but remained in a state nearly approaching distraction.

Attorney General Howe left on the morning train for Cairo, for the purpose of obtaining and bringing back the body if it can be found. He was accompanied as far as Chicago by Mrs. Harvey and her sister, Mrs. Sawyer.

NO ADMITTANCE TO CAMP RANDALL.—It is said that Capt. Potter, U. S. Quartermaster, has decided not to admit citizens into Camp Randall to visit the rebel prisoners. There will, however, be an effort made to have some one day set apart for the purpose of admitting such citizens as may desire to visit, of which due notice will be given. A list of the regiments and companies of the prisoners will be made out in a few days.

DR. J. BOVEE DODS'
IMPERIAL WINE
BITTERS,

ARE made from a pure and unadulterated Wine, which is about double the usual strength of other Wines, and is imported by only one house in the United States. Also, from the following valuable Roots, Herbs, &c., viz: Solomon's Seal, Spikenard, Camomile Flowers, Gentian, Wild Cherry Tree Bark, and Bayberry.

WE CHALLENGE
to produce
THEIR EQUAL!

We do not profess to have discovered some Roots "known only to the Indians of South America," and a cure for "all diseases which flesh is heir to," but we claim to present to the public a truly valuable preparation, which every intelligent Physician in the country will approve of and recommend. As a remedy for

INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,

Weak Lungs, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Diseases of the Nervous System, Paralysis, Piles, Diseases peculiar to Females, Debility, and all cases requiring a Tonic, they are

UNSURPASSED!

For Sore Throat, so common among the Clergy, they are truly valuable.

For the aged and infirm, or for persons of a weak constitution—for Ministers of the Gospel, Lawyers, and all public speakers—for Book-Keepers, Tailors, Seamstresses, Students, Artists, and all persons leading a sedentary life, they will prove truly beneficial.

As a Beverage, they are wholesome, innocent, and delicious to the taste. They produce all the exhilarating effects of Brandy or Wine, without intoxicating; and are a valuable remedy for persons addicted to excessive use of strong drink, and wish to refrain from it. They are pure and entirely free from the poison contained in the adulterated Wines and Liquors with which the country is flooded.

These Bitters not only CURE, but PREVENT Disease, and should be used by all who live in a country where the water is bad, or where Chills and Fevers are prevalent. Being entirely innocent and harmless, they may be given freely to Children and Infants with impunity.

Physicians, Clergymen and temperance advocates, as an act of humanity, should assist in spreading these truly valuable BITTERS over the land, and thereby essentially aid in banishing Drunkenness and Disease.

Lateness of the Season.

Considerable alarm is felt throughout the north-west on account of the lateness of season, preventing the sowing of wheat and other grains at a proper time to insure good crops. The region south of us, in Illinois, being much of it clay soil and very flat, will suffer the most in this respect. We hear that in central Illinois farmers have generally abandoned the idea of sowing spring grains. In this region, the soil being naturally easily drained, the delay will not be so great, although there is always increased danger to late crops, from the effects of blight, chinch bug, etc. Our farmers are now busily engaged in putting in their wheat, the soil being comparatively dry, from the cessation of rains for the last few days. We hope they may be rewarded with good crops, but the chances are against them.

Correspondence of the Janesville Daily Gazette.
SUNDAY EVENING, April 13, 1862, On Board Gladiator.

To-day Gen. Strong and staff, with some friends from the east, visited the hospital at Mound City some six miles above Cairo, on the Illinois bank of the Ohio. Gov. Harvey and a portion of our company were invited guests.

The hospital now contains not far from one thousand sick and wounded soldiers; and is capable of accommodating full fifteen hundred. It is the grandest affair for a hospital one could well imagine. A block of some ten stores, three stories high—built of brick in the most substantial and costly style of the high times of speculation, is now occupied for the first time by this appropriation to hospital uses. Each store furnishes three wards, one above the other. They all appear clean, and are well arranged and thoroughly ventilated. The provisions for care, comfort and medical attendance are ample and excellent. Our fellow citizen, Dr. Whiting, is here by special invitation of Dr. Franklin, the physician in charge, who found out the doctor's worth during the few weeks tarry, he made here soon after Fort Donaldson fight.

We found some thirty Wisconsin boys in the hospital, comprising sick belonging to the 8th and 15th; and wounded in the late engagement, belonging to the 14th, 16th, and 18th. They appeared wonderfully cheerful amid their sufferings—grateful for the care and kindness shown them—and, Oh! how grateful for the visit, and sympathizing words of their Governor, and the friends from Wisconsin. It was well worth coming this distance to work the good our friendly hand shaking, and cheering words seemed to do these poor fellows. It was better than medicine. We saw many a brave man's eye fill with tears, and many a "God bless you" followed us.

We leave two of the physicians of our party and three or four boxes of our hospital stores at the hospital to-night.

We came away highly impressed with Dr. Franklin, both as a gentleman and a physician, and especially with his excellent management of this hospital.

April 14th, 1862.

Since yesterday I have learned some facts in regard to the ill-fated 18th regiment, which may prove of interest to your readers, and as I have an opportunity to mail this at Paducah, Kentucky, I avail myself of it. Being the last regiment organized it remained in camp at Milwaukee, amid the snow and ice of an inclement winter, was sent to Benton Barracks, St. Louis with the understanding that it would remain there to perfect its drill. Was immediately ordered to Pittsburgh Landing, arriving on Friday evening; was sent on Saturday to the advance of Gen. Prentiss' division, and four companies detached for picket duty the same night. Consequently they had no battalion or regimental drill of any amount. Furthermore the officers had but little if any experience in military matters. You know the rest, they are surprised, retreated, fighting like heroes as they go—forming anew as their lines are broken, until the regiment is almost annihilated. Well may I say, somebody is responsible. M.

CHRIST CHURCH.—At the annual meeting of Christ Church parish, this morning, O. K. Bennett was elected senior warden; F. M. Smith junior warden; and John J. R. Pease, S. W. Smith, H. T. Selby, L. F. Patten, Hamilton Richardson, L. R. Carswell and Hiram Jackman were elected vestryman.

Col. Ezra Miller, S. W. Smith, O. K. Bennett and Hiram Jackman were elected delegates to the convention to be held in this city on the 2d of June next.

PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.—We are under frequent obligations to the Hon. J. F. Potter for valuable congressional publications.

SIXTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT.—The official canvass in this district shows a majority of 290 for Flint over Gale.

FURLOUGHS.—In consequence of the innumerable applications daily made to Col. Mulligan, by furloughed soldiers, for transportation to their regiments, he has written to Assistant Adjutant General J. C. Kelton, at St. Louis, in regard to the course to be pursued in such cases, and has received the following reply:

"Men who go on furlough should pay their way back. Men furloughed for wounds received in battle, when too poor to pay their transportation, will receive a pass to their regiment. Men absent more than two months from their regiment on account of disability must be reported to headquarters, when they will be discharged in order, unless their disability proceeds from wounds received in battle."

Janesville, April 22d, 1862. —W—

MRS. HARVEY.—The Madison Journal relates the circumstances under which Mrs. Harvey obtained the sad tidings of the death of her husband. She was at capitol when the dispatch was received by Adjutant-General Gaylord, obtaining subscriptions to aid a destitute family in the city. An attempt was made to get her to her boarding place before the contents of the dispatch were made known. She at once saw by the countenances of those whom she met that some bad tidings had been received. Adjutant-General Gaylord and Mr. Sawyer, her brother-in-law, attempted to accompany her home, and told her that a rumor had been received that gave him some anxiety in regard to the Govenor. As Gen. Gaylord was attempting to conceal the full extent of the calamity, she stopped while they were walking through the Park and said: "Tell me if he is dead!" While he evaded a direct reply, she read the fatal news in the expression of his face and dropped senseless upon the walk. She was soon revived sufficiently to by conveyed home, but remained in a state nearly approaching distraction.

Attorney General Howe left on the morning train for Cairo, for the purpose of obtaining and bringing back the body if it can be found. He was accompanied as far as Chicago by Mrs. Harvey and her sister, Mrs. Sawyer.

☞ The celebrated Wizard Oil Man lectures every evening this week, in front of the Myers House, commencing at 7 o'clock.

NO ADMITTANCE TO CAMP RANDALL.—It is said that Capt. Potter, U. S. Quartermaster, has decided not to admit citizens into Camp Randall to visit the rebel prisoners. There will, however, be an effort made to have some one day set apart for the purpose of admitting such citizens as may desire to visit, of which due notice will be given. A list of the regiments and companies of the prisoners will be made out in a few days.

A Slight Cold, Cough, Hoarseness or Sore Throat, which might be checked with a simple remedy, if neglected, often terminates seriously. Few are aware of the importance of stopping a Cough or Slight Cold in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if not attended to, soon attacks the lungs. Brown's Bronchial Troches were first introduced eleven years ago. It has been proved that they are the best article before the public for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, the Hacking Cough in Consumption, and numerous affections of the Throat, giving immediate relief.

Public Speakers & Singers will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice.

DR. J. BOVEE DODS' IMPERIAL WINE BITTERS,

ARE made from a pure and unadulterated Wine, which is about double the usual strength of other Wines, and is imported by only one house in the United States. Also, from the following valuable Roots, Herbs, &c., viz: Solomon's Seal, Spikenard, Camomile Flowers, Gentian, Wild Cherry Tree Bark, and Bayberry.

WE CHALLENGE

THEIR EQUAL!

We do not profess to have discovered some Roots "known only to the Indians of South America," and a cure for "all diseases which flesh is heir to," but we claim to present to the public a truly valuable preparation, which every intelligent Physician in the country will approve of and recommend. As a remedy for

INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,

Weak Lungs, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Diseases of the Nervous System, Paralysis, Piles, Diseases peculiar to Females, Debility, and all cases requiring a Tonic, they are

UNSURPASSED!

For Sore Throat, so common among the Clergy, they are truly valuable.

For the aged and infirm, or for persons of a weak constitution—for Ministers of the Gospel, Lawyers, and all public speakers—for Book-Keepers, Tailors, Seamstresses, Students, Artists, and all persons leading a sedentary life, they will prove truly beneficial.

As a Beverage, they are wholesome, innocent, and delicious to the taste. They produce all the exhilarating effects of Brandy or Wine, without intoxicating; and are a valuable remedy for persons addicted to excessive use of strong drink, and wish to refrain from it. They are pure and entirely free from the poison contained in the adulterated Wines and Liquors with which the country is flooded.

These Bitters not only CURE, but PREVENT Disease, and should be used by all who live in a country where the water is bad, or where Chills and Fevers are prevalent. Being entirely innocent and harmless, they may be given freely to Children and Infants with impunity.

Physicians, Clergymen and temperance advocates, as an act of humanity, should assist in spreading these truly valuable BITTERS over the land, and thereby essentially aid in banishing Drunkenness and Disease.

The only Correct and Complete

HISTORY OF THE WAR.

THE SOUTHERN REBELLION

and the

WAR FOR THE UNION:

A History of the

Rise and Progress of the Rebellion,

and

Consecutive Narrative of Events and Incidents, from the First Stages of the Treason Against the Republic down to the Close of the Conflict,

TOGETHER WITH IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS AND EXTRACTS FROM REMARKABLE SPEECHES.

In Weekly Parts, 32 pages, large 8vo, Price 10 Cents.

THE want of an authentic and thorough History of the Rebellion, for present reference and future preservation, is the subject of general remark. No work of that nature has yet been offered to the public, and all who wish for information are compelled to grope through the mazes of the rumors, reports, dispatches, letters and editorials of the daily newspapers, to precipitate, from its confused columns, the great facts and incidents of the struggle for the Union.

To meet this want, and to produce a work of permanent value as well as of present interest, the publisher has arranged for the issue of the history as above set forth—in a form and at a price which shall render it acceptable to all.

This history will tell the STORY AS IT IS, giving a clear, consecutive narrative of the entire movement, including all the incidents and events in their exact order, and containing the important documents and extracts from remarkable speeches. It will not be a mere diary, nor a mere enumeration of dry and naked dates, nor a compilation of slips from newspapers, but will portray in connected and interesting narrative, the revolutionary steps, as well as the measures of the government.

It will carefully digest all evidence—will sift all rumors and reports—will fix upon facts, and correct so far as possible the errors and discrepancies incident to the hasty narratives of the newspapers.

It will be written in a style suited to its theme—at once graphic, earnest and luminous, introducing such personal and social incidents as may serve to show the relations of individuals and communities to the grand events of the time.

It is true, everybody reads the newspapers, but the reports of the newspapers are the fragmentary and contradictory children of the moment, and not a correct, connected and complete history. The above publication, afterwards bound in a handsome volume, will be a book for the family, which will be valued like the records of the War of Independence, or the Life of Washington, and worthy to be kept for children and grand-children, as a memorial of the present time

It will thus prove desirable, available and satisfactory to every citizen, every family, every office, every library: and is given to the public in the full assurance that it will command the approbation of every patriot, every Union man, every good citizen in our still Glorious Land.

The only Correct and Complete

HISTORY OF THE WAR.

and the

WAR FOR THE UNION:

A History of the

Rise and Progress of the Rebellion,

and

Consecutive Narrative of Events and Incidents, from the First Stages of the Treason Against the Republic down to the Close of the Conflict,

TOGETHER WITH IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS AND EXTRACTS FROM REMARKABLE SPEECHES.

In Weekly Parts, 32 pages, large 8vo, Price 10 Cents.

THE want of an authentic and thorough History of the Rebellion, for present reference and future preservation, is the subject of general remark. No work of that nature has yet been offered to the public, and all who wish for information are compelled to grope through the mazes of the rumors, reports, dispatches, letters and editorials of the daily newspapers, to precipitate, from its confused columns, the great facts and incidents of the struggle for the Union.

To meet this want, and to produce a work of permanent value as well as of present interest, the publisher has arranged for the issue of the history as above set forth—in a form and at a price which shall render it acceptable to all.

This history will tell the STORY AS IT IS, giving a clear, consecutive narrative of the entire movement, including all the incidents and events in their exact order, and containing the important documents and extracts from remarkable speeches. It will not be a mere diary, nor a mere enumeration of dry and naked dates, nor a compilation of slips from newspapers, but will portray in connected and interesting narrative, the revolutionary steps, as well as the measures of the government.

It will carefully digest all evidence—will sift all rumors and reports—will fix upon facts, and correct so far as possible the errors and discrepancies incident to the hasty narratives of the newspapers.

It will be written in a style suited to its theme—at once graphic, earnest and luminous, introducing such personal and social incidents as may serve to show the relations of individuals and communities to the grand events of the time.

It is true, everybody reads the newspapers, but the reports of the newspapers are the fragmentary and contradictory children of the moment, and not a correct, connected and complete history. The above publication, afterwards bound in a handsome volume, will be a book for the family, which will be valued like the records of the War of Independence, or the Life of Washington, and worthy to be kept for children and grand-children, as a memorial of the present time.

It will thus prove desirable, available and satisfactory to every citizen, every family, every office, every library: and is given to the public in the full assurance that it will command the approbation of every patriot, every Union man, every good citizen in our still Glorious Land.
